Darling

Creeper

You moved away, sadly not far enough for you to stay off my mind
I took out an ad in the "Lonely Hearts" section, it read: "Don't come back"

But baby now we know the world is ending
There's no point in us pretending
Not to want to disappear
Some days I lace my coffee with
Poison just to feel the hit
And I've been cheating death for years

So you're leaving, I ain't grieving
Cause darling we all die alone
You're sick of me now and I can't blame you
I'm sick of myself too

Remember when we sat on bumper cars at 3 AM in warm weather?
Broken apart, but I thought we'd be better broken together

But baby now we know the world is ending
There's no point in us pretending
Not to want to disappear
But I still lace my coffee with
Poison just to feel the hit
And I've been cheating death for years

So you're leaving, I ain't grieving
Cause darling we all die alone
You're sick of me now and I can't blame you
I'm sick of myself too

The sky falls, I don't really care at all
You know everything about me so
I'm still praying for a comet to Wipe out everything I promised you

So you're leaving, I ain't grieving
Cause darling we all die alone
You're sick of me now and I can't blame you
I'm sick of myself too

So you're leaving, I ain't grieving
Cause darling we all die alone
You're sick of me now and I can't blame you
I'm sick of myself too

Hey!

So you're leaving, I ain't grieving
Cause darling we all die alone
You're sick of me now and I can't blame you
I'm sick of myself too
