

Alone

Crematory

Rain washes away all tracks, last life signs immersed in the floods

The water devouring civilization, humanity eliminated and swallowed by the earth

Suddenly you hear a scream, suddenly there is a voice

So you are not alone

There is some hope, there is some faith

You are running lonely through this world

You see no light, there are no shadows, no one to talk to, nobody here to help you

Suddenly you hear a scream, suddenly there is a voice

So you are not alone

There is some hope, there is some faith

A scream, a voice, some hope, some faith

A scream, a voice, some hope, some faith

Suddenly you hear a scream, suddenly there is a voice

So you are not alone

There is some hope, there is some faith

A scream, a voice, a hope, some faith

So you are not alone

You are not alone