Peace

Criteria

I want to know my cause
I want to lose my name in it
Or has it been so long
I know endeavor to forget

I want to write these words
I want to call them sweet vignettes
I want to cause a scene and then never hear the end of it

In warring lives you do no favors
The compromise was settlements
Now you're trying to defend your encroachment
You're pulling the trigger
And isn't that why we pray
While our hearts turn dark today
And it ain't a god's fault
It's a human failure

We still carry on life today
Despite the hardlines weight and the suffering still today

I mark your words
I want to never hear the end of them
And through our pain
We still celebrate life today
You better mark my words or you'll never hear the end of them

The highlife was taken low
By what you've diagnosed
You are the root and the cause
You're pulling the trigger
And it just won't figure

Let it rain

Cannon fire calling
Monuments to the Fallen rise
We aren't caught in a rut

We want world peace
We want it right away
