

The Flood

Crobot

There we go chasing a ghost
Into the eye of a nightmare
Hey, I can't even breathe
But I'm walking on thin air
Then she came from the sun to warn everyone
That the Heavens above are coming undone
The rain will wash it all away

In the ground below
The blood runs cold
In the flood we'll find our way home

Hear the screams
Lost in a dream
But you know right where to find me

Hey, I'm barely alive
But at least I can say I survived
Then she came from the sun to warn everyone
That the Heavens above are coming undone
The rain will wash it all away

In the ground below
The blood runs cold
In the flood we'll find our way home
And if they find my bones and no headstone
Let me fall into the unknown

And if you stare into the face of the darkness
Fear will find its way out the door
And if your eyes keep looking for nothing
You'll never see anything more

All we ever wanted was to know the truth
And all we ever needed is to know that we're all doomed

All we ever wanted was to know that we're all doomed
In the flood we'll find our way home

In the ground below
The blood runs cold
In the flood we'll find our way home
(We'll find our way back home)
And if they find my bones and no headstone
Let me fall into the unknown
(We'll fall into the unknown
Find my way back home)
