Losing Me

Croixx

I try to hold on and lose my grip
I never know that its fate but it always is I'm asking myself how'd it end up like this
I thought it was forever but I guess this is it

How'd it end up like this, how'd it end up like that
I feel myself running but I'm falling off track
I wanna get back to you, but it's something I'd never do
And now you're losing me, can't you see
You were all I thought I needed
Set me free, from your reigns
I hurt myself just to make you stay

And time will tell me the truth
Was it all just to benefit you
I'm by myself with nothing to lose
You were all I have it was always you

Leave my head alone
Please, don't call me back
And if I pick up the phone please don't answer that
I need to go away for some time
And maybe someday we can make it right

You play with my emotions
You rip my scars right open
I can't bleed no more for you
Cause there is a memory in every wound

And you're losing me, can't you see
You were all I thought I needed
Set me free from your reigns
I hurt myself just to make you stay
And time will tell me the truth
Was it all just to benefit you

I'm by myself with nothing to lose
You were all I had, it was always you
