

Natural Selection

Crosses

I will lay here right with you
Into a calming end
I will lay here right with you
Into a calming end

We stumbled about into a maze
Where it seems we'll be forever lost
You lie here talking to yourself
With our baby you caress

You relay godliness
You relay godliness
And God remains violent

The hunter he prowls around our bed
While you dream and keep the baby warm
I keep you locked into my stare
With a whisper of your breath...

You relay godliness
You relay godliness
And God remains violent

I believe in the words you imagined
I'll relay every line to the masses
I believe in the words you're relaying
I'll repeat every line to the masses

You relay godliness
You relay godliness
And God remains violent

I will lay here right with you
Into a calming end
I will lay here right with you
Into a calming end