Crosses

I knew by the way you were staring
That your mind was exploding
How long before we break?
I see through it all
I knew right away

I pictured your reaction across the mezzanine
I predicted you'd be gone, long gone
I pretended not to drink the energy
I predict you won't be gone long

The lights flickered through the station
And my mind was expanding
I assumed I could tire you down
Through behavior
I knew right away

I pictured you in action across the balcony
I predicted you'd be gone, long gone
I pretended not to drink your energy
I believe it won't be long, long
Long
I believe it won't be long, long

I knew I would find you stranded
Displaying your magic
The cloud lifted from your shape
I knew then
Yea I knew right away
I knew right away
I knew right away
