

Breaking Point

Crown the Empire

It's probably just the things I do
That make me vital for you
There's a breaking point in us all

Explore the world we must
Time's just to short for the best of us
Before death comes

I will be
There for you
Even through
Thick and Thin
I will never fall
When hope is lost

And now I see
The hour hand moving faster and faster
Our time is running out
Move quick or never remember
Open your eyes and you'll see

It's probably just the things I do
That make me vital for you
There's a breaking point in us all

Explore the world we must
Time's just to short for the best of us
Before death comes

Take me away
Away from here
Because everyday
Is turning into years
With every moment
I feel deeper and deeper
My heart's a sinking ship

And now I see
The hour hand moving faster and faster
Our time is running out
Move quick or never remember
Open your eyes and you'll see

It's probably just the things I do
That make me vital for you
There's a breaking point in us all

Explore the world we must
Time's just to short for the best of us
Before death comes

Life's just too short to go and throw it away
It's all we have let's make the best of today

And now I see
The hour hand moving faster and faster

It's probably just the things I do
That make me vital for you
There's a breaking point in us all

Explore the world we must
Time's just too short even for the best of us
Before death comes
