

L.A.

Crumb

Athena looks at me
I feel so dizzy
I grab all my things and I
Head for the city

I don't have a clue
What it means to be in you
I don't have a clue
About this world

Say my goodbye
But my head's halfway gone
There's a giant antenna
It stretches back home

When I hear something new
I grab onto her close
Let me forget feeling
So alone

Where have I gone?
I've been gone so long
Where have I gone?
I've been gone so long
I've been gone so long
I've been gone so long
I've been gone so long
I've been gone