

This War Is Useless (Eulogy)

Cryonic Temple

Whenever I walk alone, the world's weight brings me down, to my knees

Wherever you may be, you will always be there in my heart

In the mirror I see myself dead, just a ghost of my living self

This war is useless, death means nothing, no one cares

We fight for those who do not dare

Our blood is just a map, a line, another mark

Of a land you do not own

We will fight for you no more

This is our land, not yours to take

One man can own world, no matter how hard you try, you will die

In the mirror I see myself dead, just a ghost of my living self

This war is useless, death means nothing, no one cares

We fight for those who do not dare

Our blood is just a map, a line, another mark

Of a land you do not own

In the mirror I see myself dead, just a ghost of my living self

This war is useless, death means nothing, no one cares

We fight for those who do not dare

Our blood is just a map, a line, another mark

Of a land you do not own

This war is useless, death means nothing, no one cares

We fight for those who do not dare

Our blood is just a map, a line, another mark

Of a land you do not own