

Don't Look Down

Cryoshell

My heart is getting colder
Sun is in my face
Time is running out, now
Gone without a trace

You were looking for change
But this was not what you hoped for
The powers of destruction
Showing all their might

Don't look down, just don't look down
There's no way out, you feel it all around
You listen for the silent scream

So you turn away, you turn away
Thinking to yourself, "There'll be another day"
Keeping all your demons at bay
Looking for a way back in

A cloud on the horizon
A voice in the back of your mind
Telling you to run, now
In the fading of the light

A soldier marching into war
Thinking, "This was never my fight
I did it for my brother
Gone into the night"

Don't look down, just don't look down
There's no way out, you feel it all around
You listen for the silent scream

So you turn away, you turn away
Thinking to yourself, "There'll be another day"
Keeping all your demons at bay

Now I can't relate (Now I can't relate)
To all of this hate (To all of this hate)
Now I'm in the shade
Tell me if we are too late

So you turn around, you turn around
Turn to the dreams that were lost but found
Looking for a way back
Looking for a way back in