Slipping

Cryoshell

I'm slipping
Trying to stand my ground
I'm reaching out with an empty hand
Always tripping

Now the wheels are set in motion
It's the breaking of a new day
And the fear you put inside of me
Just ripples in the sand

You say you can't reach me
You say you don't want to
You say the closer we get
The further we grow apart
You say you can't feel me
You say you don't want to
You say the harder we try
The harder we fall apart

I'm waking
My tired bones are aching
I'm calling out just to hear your voice
Only silence

Now the writing's on the wall
Still, I see you walking tall
And the only trick you ever knew
Was making me feel small

You say you can't reach me
You say you don't want to
You say the closer we get
The further we grow apart
You say you can't feel me
You say you don't want to
You say the harder we try
The harder we fall apart
