

Lascivious Undivine

Cryptopsy

You're mine
Blinded by your presence
Obsessed with your essence
Eternally focused about you
Don't you know that you are Mine?

Just another picture please
Just another taste

I have spent countless hours admiring you
Since I'm blinded by your fallacy
I will send you my soul if I have to
But I bet that still is not enough

I've saved everything
I have analyzed
Cherished new glimpses
Into your perfect existence
Perfect existence

What do you mean I've gone too far?
You didn't enjoy the money, whore?
Still hungry for more
It's time to feed your little pig

Your deceit has infected you
The carnival reflects what you'd like
You may think you have us all fooled
But my love, it is you who is the fool
This life you lead is a mirage
An illusion painted for all
Painted for all

I'll have to find another way inside of you
Since I've been blocked on the outside once again

A face to face encounter, it must be
I drive for hours just to get closer
As I drive, I glance at the loaded gun
Resting on my knees
At last I have arrived and I'm shaking with anticipation
Yet you still ignore me

I've voiced demands plainly
Open up 'cause I'm here
Stop crying already
We are meant to be one
I'll resort to violence
It is the only way
I blast the lock swiftly
And the door swings open

Then a flash of pain rips through me
Then a flash of pain rips through me
Then a flash of pain rips through me
Then a flash of pain rips through me

Rips through me