Another Race

Crystal Eyes

As the moon begins to burn I can hear a noise From deep within myself Like a trembling voice

Another sound roars in my head Who is calling me Like a storm inside my body Please leave me be

Now the voice begins to speak And I realize It's someone from far away Far beyond our skies

As he rise inside my body
With all his might
Now my life is in his control
I am his light

Another race on the earth
With souls from far
They've chosen us for their birth , realize
We are not alone , (we are not alone)
They were always there , (they were always there)
And it was only a matter of time

As the moon begins to burn I can hear a noise From deep within myself Like a trembling voice

Another sound roars in my head Who is calling me
Like a storm inside my body
Please leave me be