

Open Water

Crystal Lake

Longing for the same sound, we met at the birthplace of the river

Beneath the headwaters, the sound was reformed by unseen forces
In the twisting turmoil, we took control
As time passes, the world too must change

We searched for the words to scream
For sounds to tame the chaos

Like notes ringing clear, we're not going to fade away
Our hidden emotions are released in the underground
It becomes stronger like the rings of a tree
Gripping our courage, we fought on

Never forgetting the sound of headstream, we begin the voyage
We begin, we begin, we begin the voyage, go
Make, make, make, make, make it our own way
Stay, stay, stay, stay, stay another day, bitch
Without compromise, we sail beyond all boundaries

We searched for the words to scream
For sounds to tame the chaos

Like notes ringing clear, we're not going to fade away
Our hidden emotions are released in the underground
It becomes stronger like the rings of a tree
Gripping our courage

We closed my ears to static, seeking the sound of truth
We closed my ears to static, seeking the sound of truth
Without compromise, we sail beyond all, beyond all boundaries