

Bigger Than The Blues

Crystal Shawanda

When you spend too much time
In your troubled mind
There's no peace you'll find just the blues
And you work so hard just to find a smile
But it's been a while, that's the truth

When you're strong like a river
And tall like a mountain
Then you're bigger than, bigger than
Bigger than, bigger than the blues
In your heart you believe it
In your soul you can feel it
Then you're bigger than, bigger than
Bigger than, bigger than the blues

Well you know, when they ask you
"How you've been?"
That you just pretend it's all good
You'll take all those sorrows
That you felt before
And just close that door if you could

When you're strong like a river
And tall like a mountain
Then you're bigger than, bigger than
Bigger than, bigger than the blues
In your heart you believe it
In your soul you can feel it
Then you're bigger than, bigger than
Bigger than, bigger than the blues

When you're strong like a river
And tall like a mountain
Then you're bigger than, bigger than
Bigger than, bigger than the blues
In your heart you believe it
In your soul you can feel it
Then you're bigger than, bigger than
Bigger than, bigger than the blues

Oh, oh-oh
You're bigger than the blues, oh
