

One Question

Crystal Viper

Day after day, year after year
We did not know that, but we all should fear
Giant disease, nuclear end
All what will remain on Earth is a sand
But we will get a second chance
Do we deserve? Where do they see the sense?

Mankind failed the test
It's now too late

We are not alone
Star keepers were watching us
Now the time has come
When all is said and done
We destroy ourselves
Too much power in our hands
One question to ask
Before they'll start their task

I don't know when, I don't know how
They promised us to show us the new law
What will you ask if they'll choose you?
Just don't ask too much, they know what they do
They will save us, we're their children
We should be ready, they will tell us when

Mankind failed the test
It's now too late

We are not alone
Star keepers were watching us
Now the time has come
When all is said and done
We destroy ourselves
Too much power in our hands
One question to ask
Before they'll start their task
