Crywolf

Hands like a waterfall
You breathe me in so deep
I thought the end would feel much longer, there, for me

I'll make you see

Hands down to stop the fall
I never thought I'd see
Every time I start to talk the words feel incomplete, but

I wanted you to know
You were the end of me
You took the last control I could feel

Hear you in my head
Taste you in these old bones
I want to feel whole
I want to feel whole

Feel you in my bed
Circling this empty room
I've got no control
I've got no control

Once I was afraid that I'd find you
Cold and lying still in my bedroom
Once I was afraid I'd cry until I broke
For the first time
For the first time
For the first time

I'll go set fire to all we started,
Fall down to my knees as it rises,
Right next to the place where I fell in love with you
For the first time
For the first time

Hear you in my head
Taste you in these old bones
I want to feel whole
I want to feel whole

Feel you in my bed
Circling this empty room
I've got no control
I've got no control
