Paraphonic

Cuco

Looking from an empty home with hope that love shows up
The dunes are rising right before me, waiting to blow up
If there's something hidden, I would hope it calls my name
I'm hallucinating, but I don't think I'm insane

Just open your mouth and taste the wind that pushes you towards the shore
Figure it out, but just for now
Accept it all, what's mine is yours

I won't be surprised when it crashes down
I'll just close my eyes
I won't be surprised when it crashes down
I'll just close my eyes

When it all starts moving again, I wish it could've been with you
I guess I'll start looking around for something else to do
I'm tired of sitting around, but my heart still has a bruise
One day, one day, I'll reunite with you

Watching it unfold, the city lights forever glow
Ate this piece of candy on what looks Rainbow Road

Just open your mouth and taste the wind that pushes you towards the shore
Figure it out, but just for now
Accept it all, what's mine is yours

I won't be surprised when it crashes down
I'll just close my eyes
I won't be surprised when it crashes down
I'll just close my eyes

I won't be surprised when it all starts to come crashing down on me
I won't be surprised when it all starts to come crashing down on me

Sponzor: www.srovnavac.cz - vyberte si pojištění online!