Following Betulas

Cult of Luna

Awaken in the silent night.

Alone, inland hysteria. I am a stranger in this land. Here I kneel before you.

Oh, solemn glory.

Standing together on the hill.

Nothing is spoken, but understood.

Below, a procession of wooden men.

Swinging their tree trunks in the wind.

The white birches are alive, they are marching.