

Into Despair

currents

I never said I could walk on water
Stuck in my head; wish the path made sense
I never said I could make you better
What did you expect from me?

Under the weight I'm thrown into despair
No solace, no peace
I sit alone and stare

No one ever says what they really want, all we do is guess if they show us a nything past the surface
Plagued, we don't get any rest. We are forced to play the game and never que stion it

Follow progress, but nothing ever works
Maybe we can never change, all we do is hurt
Can we put a price on what we left?
Can we ever change the ignorant?

Can we ever change the ignorant?
I didn't come here to just be a slave
Problems embedded in greed
(Lives wasted)
There's too much at stake now to let yourself
Be distracted
We hate, we waste, we spend
Trapped inside your head
Disdain we can't defend
No honor here

I never said I could walk on water
Stuck in my head; wish the path made sense
I never said I could make you better
What did you expect from me?

Under the weight I'm thrown into despair
No solace, no peace
I sit alone and stare

I sit alone and stare...

I fear this ringing in my head
My call to lose control of my actions and attack
It's not too far in the past
The shame I feel is nothing compared to the scars upon my skin in the wake o f all my sin

I sat back and I let the devil in me
I sat back and I let it in

I never said I could walk on water
Stuck in my head; wish the path made sense
I never said I could make you better
What did you expect from me?

Under the weight I'm thrown into despair
No solace, no peace

I sit alone and stare

No solace, no peace