The Power

Curtis Harding

Trouble don't last like it used to And my joy comes faster Rain don't feel like it used to The sunlight feels better, well

Just live your life
And don't you give up now
There'll be sun
But we gon' dance it out

When your pain is released, and your love will increase And the power will show, and your love light gon' glow When the pain is released, and your love will increase And the power will show, and your love light gon' glow

People will talk what they don't know Don't worry what they say Yeah, some take a lot and still want more But don't worry 'bout that baby, yeah

Just live your life
And don't you give up now
There'll be sun
But we gon' dance it out

When your pain is released, and your love will increase And the power will show, and your love light gon' glow When the pain is released, and your love will increase And the power will show, and your love light gon' glow

When your pain is released, and your love will increase And the power will show, and your love light gon' glow When the pain is released, and your love will increase And the power will show, and your love light gon' glow...
