You cannot be the same as me girl you know You will find it works that way You will find it works that way

There is no saying what is right wrong you know But you don't like getting hurt
But you don't like getting hurt

Why don't you stand right by my side, saith the man But don't look back, back at me But don't look back, back at me

Protect yourself from all things bad, saith the man Don't include me as being one Don't include me as being one

Just as much as is good I would like if you would Hey you know it's alright Hey you know it's alright

You cannot be the same as me girl you know You will find it works that way You will find it works that way

There is no saying what is right wrong you know But you don't like getting hurt But you don't like getting hurt

Just as much as is good I would like if you would Hey you know it's alright Hey you know it's alright

Protect yourself from all things bad, saith the man Don't include me as being one Don't include me as being one