

Here we are living in this glorious time
Go on celebrating and show 'em your pride
Look what we've done look what we've reached
Oh I think no one can see

And what we all do for our luxury
Raping the forests and poison the seas
I think there's nothing we wouldn't do
If the result may be good

But in the end of all
Mother Nature's standing tall
From a distance it looks still all right
Just when you get too close
You can see the overdose
And as well the marks we left behind

We all have our wishes, we all have our dreams
We don't see the signs, don't know what they mean
We close our eyes and live further on
As the world owns us alone

And so the resources are not rare enough
At war they throw bombs on the oil-springs, oh god
Is this the end, we're heading for
In anger and fear all alone

horus
As long the world's turning, the sun keeps on burning
The greed in our hearts will keep us apart
The Chance of tomorrow is my greatest sorrow
So come on, unite and let the sun rise again

What is our aim, we're heading for
What is our aim, we're heading for

Don't lose the illusion of changing the way
Fight the insanity stands in our way
Don't follow the mainstream - resist as you can
In future they may understand

How long can we live in those glorious times
No one can say when we'll cross the line
Of no return from our point of view
And the sun hit the sea the last time
