

Battle From Within

Cyhra

I was a child who played with fire
And as my childhood fell apart
I was detained from my emotions
How do you heal a broken heart

When they expect we'll follow patterns
I saw my dreams just disappear
Conform your own reactions
Become a child of fear

These wounds won't heal
Please sing for me

For the lonely
The forgotten
All those memories in common
It's a silent pain of dreams that won't come true
For you
To the Mothers
And the Fathers
To the son that needs his brother
It's a forced defiance you can never win
The battle from within

You were the brave the bold the strongest
While I just focused on myself
You'll never meet my son and daughter
Why can't the truth be something else

I still remember frames with caption
I hear the phone ring from a far
When life you knew was crumbling
Just like a house of cards

I sing to heal
Remember me

For the lonely
The forgotten
All those memories in common
It's a silent pain of dreams that won't come true
For you
To the Mothers
And the Fathers
To the son that needs his brother
It's a forced defiance you can never win
The battle from within
