

Lonely Lovers

D-Block Europe

Sometimes, you can lose someone
And you won't ever feel the same no more
Wanna give up, it don't feel right
But, you don't wanna feel this pain no more
Bad things come to those that don't deserve it
Why do I only pray when I'm hurtin'?
I might pour another glass
Wish I had one more chance to just have one more dance
A river full of tears
I'm swimmin' with the sharks, it's tearin' me apart
Yeah, but, we'll dance again, in Heaven, my friend (Heaven, my friend)

It's been a while since I broke down in conversation
Little moments trigger memories when I talk about you
Hide the pain when only last year was always blatant
Acceptance comes eventually, man, 'cause what can you do?
Shut the world out, embrace the hurt
Nothin' can make it work
So, finish the bottle and open another, light up, inhale the burn
Everyone gets the turn
I can't even say the words, "I miss you"
It's livin' wrong, it's gettin' fucked up to forget
But, I don't wanna be livin' a day filled up with regret
With words, I should've said
And nights that shouldn't've ended
The things I should've left
Any fights we should've mended

I heard time heals, I'm lookin' at my Rolex, that's a lie
The memories of the dead are keepin' me alive
And, I'm a man, so, I have to act like I'm fine
But, if I said it's easy, I would be lyin'

If I could stop this feelin', no, I wouldn't feel the need to be alone
But, I see your face in others
Blue eyes, the sky above us
If I could admit when I'm feelin' scared, I wouldn't sit with all my demons here
We all feel the cold in summer
Our love as lonely lovers
In the light, in the glow of a broken soul
In the light, in the glow of a broken soul

The diamonds brazy, yeah, they goin' berserk (Yeah)
An empty soul, and you need lovers to work (Ooh)
I said, "It hurts a little more as you first call"
Figure how you live, and learn (How you live, and learn)
I hit you up and I show you concern, I'm tryna paint a perfect picture with her
I said, "It hurts a little more as you first call"
Figure how you live, and learn (How you live, and learn)
Please keep on hearin' me out, I'm makin' signs
Got me starin' at some memories
Now, it's from the [?]
Last October, but, it's February now
We look alike, so, what's gettin' me now?
So, we turn away

Now, we got to turn a page
I don't wanna hurt the same
I ain't gon' work the same

If I could stop this feelin', no, I wouldn't feel the need to be alone
But, I see your face in others
Blue eyes, the sky above us
If I could admit when I'm feelin' scared, I wouldn't sit with all my demons here
We all feel the cold in summer
Our love as lonely lovers
In the light, in the glow of a broken soul
In the light, in the glow of a broken soul