

Start Again

D-Pryde

Another chapter passes by in the novel of my legacy
Waking up to sunshine and my mama's flipping eggs for me
Dads out at work little sisters at elementary
Older brother's sleeping in now change up the perspective to
A kid up out in Africa who never has a bite to eat
Struggling with no water with his tummy rubbing stridently
Ask yourself are you having the worst day of your life
Cause there's people out in the world just being hurt all day and night
And of course we have our struggles and our day is always messed up
But worse things can happen you just got to keep your head up
To everybody there having sorrow and a measure
Just know today is a blessing and tomorrow will be better

As much as the bad comes in I keep going
When The problems of the night and I start over in the morning
When people pull me down I just have to know
To trust myself and then I get back up
And I just wanna fly away when I'm having one pretty bad day
But I don't trip cause this is not my end
Cause tomorrow we start again, start again

You had a break up now baby trust me
He may just be a jerk but never think that you be ugly
Every woman is a queen and that's a known fact
To all the females in the world sit and know that
To all of you dudes out in the world with a 9 to 5 I give you thumbs up
You picked up your pride inside
Go support your family cause your effort makes them glad Kids be happy for your fathers cause I've never had a dad
Listen close to what I say and it's hard to follow
Value everyone you know, they might be gone tomorrow
Cause even when all your happiness isn't major or right
You gotta' treat the present like the last day of your life

As much as the bad comes in I keep going
When The problems of the night and I start over in the morning
When people pull me down I just have to know
To trust myself and then I get back up
And I just wanna fly away when I'm having one pretty bad day
But I don't trip cause this is not my end
Cause tomorrow we start again, start again

Cause even when the days go rough, I just go on Cause this life I cherish even when times go wrong (heyy)
This worlds so cold day by day
If we help one another we can all make a change
I don't trip cause this is not the end and tomorrow we start again

As much as the bad comes in I keep going
When The problems of the night and I start over in the morning
When people pull me down I just have to know
To trust myself and then I get back up
And I just wanna fly away when I'm having one pretty bad day
But I don't trip cause this is not my end
Cause tomorrow we Start again, Start again

As much as the bad comes in I keep going

When The problems of the night and I start over in the morning
When people pull me down I just have to know
To trust myself and then I get back up
And I just wanna fly away when I'm having one pretty bad day
But I don't trip cause this is not my end
Cause tomorrow we start again, start again
