

Never Too Young

D-Side

Never too young to fall in love
Never too young to give your heart away
Never too young to open up
Never too young too young to fall in love

Something's happening
I feel like I'm almost still for tall
I'm about to climb the world
But my mind it clear
And I can't sing forever through the stars
So weren't yet so far

Now I feel so free
Deep inside of me
I finally understand
And know just who I am

Never too young to fall in love
Never too young to give your heart away
Never too young to open up
Never too young too young to fall in love

Don't you be afraid?
I can move the havens
With one touch
It wouldn't bother me that much
Don't think bad of me
It's better my full less of fit
To try
I'm reaching for the sky

I feel so free
Deep inside of me
I finally understand
And I know just who I am

Never too young to fall in love
Never too young to give your heart away
Never too young to open up
Never too young too young to fall in love
