

Do I Need A Reason

D'Sound

Today when I saw you
I knew it was just like the first time
When you met my eyes I came close
And I felt like the first time

To hold back my fear
And feel you so near
I've never been this far before
To hold back my fear
And feel you so near
I'm scared of falling into deep this time

Do I need a reason to tell you why
I'm singing you this song
Do I need a reason to show you that
I know where I belong
Whenever I am weary I lean on
This feeling that I have
I am so much stronger now
Thankful, yes I am

Today I'll renounce them,
The doubts and the fears I've been nursing
I'll fly like a moth to the flame
And I'll feel like the first time

To hold back my fear
And let you come near
I've never been this far before
To hold back my fear
And let you come near
I'm 'fraid of loosing and still I go
