Four years ago, I was captivated by your smile
But I wouldn't call it love yet, no
Cause it wasn't love, it was infatuation
And I wasn't old enough to understand

Old enough to understand, understand
Understand, understand, understand

Old enough to understand
Woah, to understand, to understand

Old enough to understand

I think we're old enough to understand
We didn't know what love was back then
Too young to realize what we had
But I won't make the same mistake again
