

Never Fail

Da' T.R.U.T.H.

I know the feeling fades
But you never fail, you never fail
You never fail, oh
I know the feeling fades
But you never fail, you never fail
You never fail, oh
I know the feeling fades
But you never fail, you never fail
You never fail, oh
I know the feeling fades
But you never fail, you never fail
You never fail, oh

Yeah
My daddy seen him, my momma seen him
Grandmomma seen him, my auntie him, my daughter seen him
Tears of a generation, they drop on the mausoleum
Steps in this warfare, like the sands of the Colosseum
Can't trust my emotions, feelings come and then feelings go
Searching for a sign, because we buy when they sell us hope
Looking beyond the stars through the lens of a telescope
We really want a genie, not a God that'll tell us no
Think about it
If we could control God, we would string him up
Pump the masses, manipulating what he could touch
Just need somebody that we could trust
I promise prayer really works, just not the way that you think it does
Yeah

I know the feeling fades
But you never fail, you never fail
You never fail, oh
I know the feeling fades
But you never fail, you never fail
You never fail, oh
I know the feeling fades
But you never fail, you never fail
You never fail, oh

Yeah, yeah, yeah
I don't always understand God's reasons
I just know it's hard to understand him in dry seasons
Guess I just gotta wrestle with the facts and SOS when I feel trapped
Don't want to hear another song about my season
I just want to lock in to engage with the weary minds
Dive into the deep, where it's broken and teary-eyes
I just gotta wrestle with the skeptics while I
Listen to the questions
Like all those years of oppression man, where was God
I get it tho
If God would fix everything that would make him appealing
But since he can, but he doesn't that makes him a villain
Dang, I'm in my feelings
'Cause I ain't got all the answers but I can't walk away
Nah

I know the feeling fades

But you never fail, you never fail
You never fail, oh
I know the feeling fades
But you never fail, you never fail
You never fail, oh
I know the feeling fades
But you never fail, you never fail
You never fail, oh