

One grain of sand
Held here in the palm of my hand
All beginnings start from an end
What was lost will be found again

What it is what will be this endless continuity
What we were, what we are
We're all born from the same star

What it is what will be this endless continuity
What we were, what we are
We're all born from the same star

You are my universe (universe)

One grain of sand
Held here in the palm of my hand
All beginnings start from an end
What was lost will be found again

Close your eyes

What it is what will be this endless continuity
What we were, what we are
We're all born from the same star

What it is what will be this endless continuity
What we were, what we are
We're all born from the same star

You are my universe (universe)

You are my universe
You are my universe
You are my universe
You are my universe