

Night Bloom

Dabin

What if being lost was a gift somehow?
And the shadows of your past never tore you down?
And every time you thought that you were lonely
It was only just to show you
That everything you love about the morning
Was left there by the moon

When the stars show up at your darkest
Let 'em lead you through all the darkness
And you'll find trust, and you'll find truth, and you'll find you
When the night blooms, when the night blooms, when the night blooms

(And you'll find trust, and you'll find truth, and you'll find you)
(When the night blooms, when the night blooms, when the night blooms)
When the night blooms

When your flowers fall apart, look at them like art
'Cause that's where, that's where the night blooms

When the night blooms, when the night blooms

Stay up in the clouds when the sky falls down
When the sun disappears and the lights go out
'Cause every time you thought that you were lonely
It was only just to show you
That everything you love about the morning
Was made from what you love

When the stars show up at your darkest
Let 'em lead you through all the darkness
And you'll find trust, and you'll find truth, and you'll find you
When the night blooms, when the night blooms, when the night blooms

Go shake hands with the shadows and you'll find your clarity
Oh, trust in what you don't know yet
And you'll find love, and you'll find truth, and you'll find you
When the night blooms, when the night blooms, when the night blooms

When the stars show up at your darkest
Let 'em lead you through all the darkness
And you'll find trust, and you'll find truth, and you'll find you
When the night blooms, when the night blooms, when the night blooms

Maybe stars show up at our darkest
Just to show us what we've forgotten
