

Worries

Dabin

When everything falls into place
Don't make a sound, don't make a face
I don't know why it's a thing not to count
All of your blessings

I'm blinded by
The midnight drives
The endless nights
Behind blue lights
And every time I say goodbye
I lose my mind, I lose my sight

In the endless cruelty of the senseless
As the carefree stay cold and uninvolved
When I cry, they say I shouldn't worry
I shouldn't worry at all
I shouldn't worry at all

I'm blinded by
The midnight drives
The endless nights
Behind blue lights
And every time I say goodbye
I lose my mind, I lose my sight

In the endless cruelty of the senseless
As the carefree stay cold and uninvolved
When I cry, they say I shouldn't worry
I shouldn't worry at all
I shouldn't worry at all
