

Youth

Dabin

She lost herself somewhere in the rain
Said she won't look back, she won't look back at all the pain
And just some bruises, we'll get in that car
Get out to nowhere, get out to nowhere, a brand new start

Abandon all missions, cynical positions
Stay true through all transitions
Heart is made of stone
Eyes are gettin' blurry, no need to hurry
Everything is fine, you don't need to worry
And love is not a home

You, you're doin' just fine, doin' just fine
You, you're doin' just fine, doin' just fine
Don't care, you're selfless
Why are you? Why are you?
You, you're doin' just fine, doin' just fine

You're doin' just fine, doin' just fine

You said good mornin' to an empty bed
And now he's mournin' all the words he left unsaid
She's somewhere out there, somewhere in the rain
And less is more, and war is war
And everything just stays the same

Abandon all missions, cynical positions
Stay true through all transitions
Heart is made of stone
Eyes are gettin' blurry, no need to hurry
Everything is fine, you don't need to worry
And love is not a home

You're doin' just fine, doin' just fine
You're doin' just fine, doin' just fine

Don't care, you're selfless
Why are you? Why are you?
You're doin' just fine, doin' just fine

You're doin' just fine, doin' just fine
You're doin' just fine, doin' just fine
You're doin' just fine, doin' just fine
You're doin' just fine, doin' just fine
