

telling all those lies using alibi 'you're a storyteller playing all your games you're the one to blame you're a storyteller two w hole years I've wasted and five months to the day listening to y ou say you love me and you'll never go away took my heart for gr anted, then cut me to the bone never thought I'd see the moment when I'm standing here alone blew away my time thinking you wer e mine little did I know that you were creeping on the side all t he things you said messing up my head how could you say you love d me if that's not what you meant (you've been) telling all tho se lies using alibi 'you're a storyteller playing all your games y ou're the one to blame you're a storyteller like a little baby, I put my trust in you you were my queen, my lady, you even hung out with my crew

I should have asked more questions when you said you had to gob ut like a fool I let you, never knew you were a hoe when you're out at night, he's there by your side thought you said you're w ith your girlfriends, I knew it was a lie when you're in my bed, I can smell that scent which man could get so close girl if you were where you said (you've been) telling all those lies using alibi 'you're a storyteller playing all your games you're the one to blame you're a storyteller telling all those lies using alibi 'you're a storyteller playing all your games you're the one to b lame you're a storyteller day and night, night and day you're the only one storyteller