

Anchors

Damien Jurado

I don't need another reminding of how it isn't our time
I live with that daily reminding
And it has not changed my mind
I still go on seeing you as mine
Just not at the present time

How long must I wake without you and go this life alone?
Untied to your anchor and I'm sinking like a stone
I'll be the only one who is caught in your eye
Just not at the present time
