

Born Again

Dan Bremnes

I am tired of apathy
It's like a poison inside of me
Always growing in the dark
I want the light back in my heart

I am tired of wandering
Falling in love with lesser things
It's time my running ends
Come remind me who I am

Give me a heart that beats brand new
Give me eyes that search for You
Every day, every step, till my final breath
I wanna live like I've been born again
Like I've been born again

Won't You break what's hard as stone
Put compassion in my soul
It might take a miracle to do
But that's what I find when I come to You

Give me a heart that beats brand new
Give me eyes that search for You
Every day, every step, till my final breath
I wanna live like I've been born again
Oh, like I've been born again

Cause the old life is gone
And a new day has come
Let the whole world see I'm a soul set free by love
Oh by love

Give me a heart that beats brand new
Give me eyes that search for You
Every day, every step, till my final breath
I wanna live like I've been born again
Oh, like I've been born again
Like I've been born again
Oh, like I've been born again