

Call Your Name

Dan Bremnes

When I first called Your name, I was only five
Didn't know what to say, how to do it right
Just stood there with my eyes closed that Sunday night

Fast forward, fifteen just a rebel child
Church camp baptized by the Holy fire
Head down, eyes closed as I walked the aisle
Wouldn't be the last time

That I called Your name
I called Your name
'Cause I'm still a child just reaching out for grace
I called Your name
I still call that name
'Cause sometimes there's just nothing left to say

Don't blink time flies faster than you think
Woke up two kids girl of my dreams
Feels like sometimes we're holding on for dear life, yeah
Between the long days and the short nights
It's the hard talks and the tears cried
Most days I wonder am I doing this thing right

But I called Your name
I called Your name
'Cause I'm still a child just reaching out for grace
I called Your name (Jesus)
I still call that name (Jesus)

The fourteenth that cold September day
Got the call that I'd prayed I would never take Truck ran that red light, mom she's not coming home
Just lay there empty never felt so alone

I called Your name (Jesus)
I called Your name (Jesus)
I call Your name (Jesus)
Jesus that name (Jesus)
'Cause I'm still a child who's reaching out for grace
I call Your name (Jesus)
I call Your name (Jesus)
'Cause I'm still a child just reaching out for grace
