

Fingerprints

Dan Bremnes

Sometimes it feels just like you're caught inside a moment
Not really moving but you're going through the motions
Trying so hard to find the meaning as your days roll by
I know it sounds impossible
But we're living in a miracle
The more you look the more you know
That we are not alone

When you see love
Leave a mark
Healing broken hearts
You see chains
Fall apart
You see hope rise from the dark
It's so much more than ordinary
It's nothing less than extraordinary
No
It's the fingerprints of God

It's written in the way the stars break up the night
The proof, the clarity that opens up our eyes
It's all around and inside of you and I
I know it sounds impossible
But it's actually a miracle

When you see love
Leave a mark
Healing broken hearts
You see chains
Fall apart
You see hope rise from the dark
It's so much more than ordinary
It's nothing less than extraordinary
No
It's the fingerprints of God

Open your eyes to the signs all around you
Hope is alive and it's living inside you
All creation testifies it
The more you seek the more you'll find it
Love, love
Healing broken hearts
You see chains
Fall apart
You see hope rise from the dark
It's so much more than ordinary
It's nothing less than extraordinary
No
It's the fingerprints of God

There's no such thing as ordinary
We're nothing less than extraordinary
No
And it's who we are
The fingerprints of God