

Searching For Something

Dan Bremnes

I've seen the world, and I'm still dreaming
I've been to Rome, the Colosseum
I saw the sunset on the desert
It's not enough yet

I'm still searching for something, oh
I'm still searching for something, oh
I climbed up the mountain, I drank from the fountain
I'm lost in the stars, I'm still reaching
And searching for something
I'm still searching for something

I'm still searching for something
I'm still searching for something

I fought my battles, I got my scars
But I'm still fighting, head to my heart
Oh it's a journey, sometimes a war
On this side of home

I'm still searching for something, oh
I'm still searching for something, oh
I climbed up the mountain, I drank from the fountain
I'm lost in the stars, I'm still reaching
And searching for something
I'm still searching for something

I'm still searching for something
I'm still searching for something

I saw the sunset on the desert
It's not enough

I'm still searching for something, oh
I'm still searching for something, oh
I climbed up the mountain, I drank from the fountain
I'm lost in the stars, I'm still reaching
And searching for something
I'm still searching for something

I'm still searching for something
I'm still searching for something
