

Started with You

Dan Bremnes

At the worst of times
And to my surprise
When I'm lost, I find
My lifeline, You hear my cry
Desperate prayers
'Cause I know You're there
Like the atmosphere, everywhere

And honestly, I'm not sure how I got this far Still so many days I'm barely holding on
But every journey it started with You
Every door that You brought me through

It started with You
It started with You
It started with You
You

And I found myself
When I lost myself
And I must have failed a thousand times
Thought I'd lose my mind
And I swear I did
And I found no help
So, I reached down in my being
From the place I hit the ground

And I bled and I cried
I wrestled with my pride
'Cause I wanted to be free again
Wanted to see the light
And I thought for sure You'd leave me there
I thought for sure I'd die
But You kept holding on to me
Now I'm alive

It started with You
It started with You
Every beat of this heart is a song
And it started with You (started with You, started with You)
You (You)

It's always been (You)
It's always been (You)
It's always been
Always been You (You)
It's always been (You)
It's always been (You)
It's always been
It's always been You

You, it started with You
Every beat of this heart is a song
And it starts with You (You)
You (it's always been, it's always been)
You (it's always been, it's always been)
And this story of infinite love

It's always been You (it's always been You, it's always been You)
(You)

It's always been (You)

It's always been (You)

It's always been

Always been You (You)

It's always been (You)

It's always been (You)

It's always been

It's always been You
