

Azeroth Calling

Dan Bull

I feel something calling to me from afar
A whole world apart, but coming for my heart
We've somehow allowed it all to come apart
Became nameless strangers walking in the dark

So, reignite the torch and reunite the warband
We are now in waters that aren't on the chart
So, come with me aboard the warcraft and embark
We'll not give quarter 'til we've done the job

We're getting the band back together
Better late than never
It's never too late to add another stanza to your Edda
Our shared history and myths just seem to make it better
So, if you feel as if you've missed something of late, well, then I've got what you need
You've only got what you don't

Will you take one for the team?
Well then, here's one for the road
What do you see, when you look under the throne?
Gilded feet
Hold-up kingdoms
Nobody can run it alone

Azeroth calling
Azeroth calling
Azeroth calling to you

Still a long way to midnight

Azeroth calling
Azeroth calling
Azeroth calling to you

"We can't be too prepared for this fight."

The world's crumbling to pieces right in front of me
Unseen demons scheme, cleaving life asunder
And if even I could humbly
Believe that I was somebody
I might perceive
Enough to see
The darkness underneath it

It's uncanny how
Someone that seems so friendly now
Can lead you out of any help
And leave you as an empty shell

I'm hearing letters forming warbands called words
They rally together in sentences of scorched earth
Marching over parchment in a paragraph
A panoramic map or propaganda power grab?
We're rapidly running out of sand in the hourglass
So stand up fast, if you're down for smashing Xal'atath

Azeroth calling
Azeroth calling
Azeroth calling to you

Still a long way to midnight

Azeroth calling
Azeroth calling
Azeroth calling to you

The call of the void
Just gives us more of a choice
So, we'll let all of our voices
Fill that hall and rejoice
Tonight uproarious oiks
Unruly, bawdy and boisterous
In the morning we'll all fall in form the walls of a fortress

When it's us or you, you can trust your crew
When it's us or you, you can trust your crew

Azeroth calling
Azeroth calling
Azeroth calling to you

Still a long way to midnight

Azeroth calling
Azeroth calling
Azeroth calling to you

It's times like this that you see who your friends really are
It's times like this that you see who your friends really are
It's times like this that you see who your friends really are
Who you believe them to be
It's times like this that you see who your friends really are

Daniel, Daniel, Daniel
Why waste words on such unimpressive warriors?
Come now
Turn your talents to a more terrifying tune