Echo's Cake

Dan Bull

Be on the lookout – we've got a copycat
Roger, roger – copy that
Be on the lookout – we've got a copycat
Roger, roger – copy that

I dwell in a thousand faces
That I found in the damnedest places
I observe, I watch and learn
A world that that'll turn as I watch it burn
I take on a thousand names
And for each I've held – I've felt their pain
I observe, I watch and learn
A world that that'll turn as I watch it burn

She glides into the picture with elegance
The divinest artificial intelligence
That's ready to fit into any position
That's giving the mission – the biggest of benefits
Her particular gift is irreplicable
She can replicate almost, well, anything
Bringing ventriloquism to levels
Never hit her to bettered, or ever since
Excellence, Echo silence
Miming, replicate violent
Acts, so you're crying like a wreck to the tiniest violins
The sight's wetting your eyelids
A heck of a Far Cry from Rory Bremner
That's a reference – I doubt if you'll remember
She'll take on any race, age, role, or gender
So watch the throne 'cause there's a royal pretender

Be on the lookout – we've got a copycat
Roger, roger – copy that
Be on the lookout – we've got a copycat
Roger, roger – copy that
Be on the lookout – we've got a copycat
Roger, roger – copy that
Be on the lookout – we've got a copycat
Roger, roger – copy that

I wear a thousand masks
Thousand stories, a thousand pasts
I observe, I watch and learn
A world that that'll turn as I watch it burn
I talk in a thousand tongues
Of a time that seldom comes
I observe, I watch and learn
A world that that'll turn as I watch it burn

Built in ability: skilled with the mimicry
She'll be you, or anyone else in the vicinity
In the face of intimidation
Her gift of imitation is missing limitation
It's written in her face as it's written in her code
She can become any lady, or just another bloke
Doesn't even pretend to be
Just turns into the identity that she was meant to be

Because eventually she could be anybody
Whatever entity that she intends to be
So you better check your double indemnity
When any friend could be an enemy
Potentially, focusing energy beams
Into your memories, dreams until everyone seems Like another individual you remember you've seen
Bringing a new meaning to taking one for the team

I wear a thousand masks
Thousand stories, a thousand pasts
I observe, I watch and learn
A world that that'll turn as I watch it burn
I talk in a thousand tongues
Of a time that seldom comes
I observe, I watch and learn
A world that that'll turn as I watch it burn
I dwell in a thousand faces
That I found in the damnedest places
I observe, I watch and learn
A world that that'll turn as I watch it burn
I take on a thousand names
And for each I've held - I've felt their pain
I observe, I watch and learn
A world that that'll turn as I watch it burn

Tištěno z pisnicky-akordy.cz Sponzor: www.srovnavac.cz - vyberte si pojištění online!