

Extraction

Dan Bull

The rain seems to have lost its sparkle, shame each of the drops are darker
Treetops compete for breathing space with creeping toxic arms
That reach to block the path of beams we need keep them imprisoned
It's time to split the sentence period, let that dot meet the prism
With laser precise Extraction
Like it's related to light's refraction
Might just aim through the sights and cap them
Kneecapped, no cap, know Cap? Might want to ask him
Day to night, we're like rays of light
Razor-like, raise a right, riot while evading eyes
Swipe the data day to day, they can try it
But today's a good day to die

When will the rain hit rays of light?
From hazy skylines, rainbows shine bright
When will the rain hit rays of light?
From hazy skylines, rainbows shine bright

I remember glamorous nights
The camera lens and the glare of Paris lights
Apparently we had a slice of paradise
Now it's neverending gloom and parasites
I'll parachute into the very heart of their paradigm
Paralyse them
And have them perish harder than a rubber tyre
Doing giant donuts over parish lines
Shatter their glass palace into a thousand fragments as the light Catches exactly the right angle and casts a stained-glass, glance of their plight
They had a chance at the prize and decided to fantasize
So we analysed, acted and vandalised their plastic pantomime

When will the rain hit rays of light?
From hazy skylines, rainbows shine bright
When will the rain hit rays of light?
From hazy skylines, rainbows shine bright

It's been eighteen years, lost eighteen peers, that rain on my face just may be tears
Time to extract yourself from the toxicity like Britney did Jamie Spears
No more quarantine, folks all follow me, restoring the glory and total auton omy
Bored of the sprawl of a broken economy, ignoring it all, so you don't want to bother me
Balancing risk and reward, calculate how much of this we'd afford Humanity's been through the wars, but never encountered anything similar to this before
It's an issue that calls for precision and caution, in equilibrium with big bloody balls
When will you call to let the triggers be pulled? The decision is yours

And will the rain hit rays of light?
From hazy skylines, rainbows shine bright
When will the rain hit rays of light?
From hazy skylines, rainbows shine bright
When will the rain hit rays of light?
From hazy skylines, rainbows shine bright

When will the rain hit rays of light?
From hazy skylines, rainbows shine bright
