

Why Are You Hiding Away?

Dan Croll

The streets are rising up again
A sound of change is overhead
The distant calls are yours to change
But still you fail to pave the way

If you say that it's over
If justice is served
If law and order is now on display
Then why are you hiding away?
Why are you hiding away?

Time to leave the house and say goodbye
But like a spoiled child you cry cry cry
So you climb the steps not yours to tread
Just to hold a book you've never read

If you say that it's over
If justice is served
If law and order is now on display
Then why are you hiding away?
Why are you hiding away?

If you say that its over
If justice is served
If law and order is now on display
Then why are you hiding away?
Why are you hiding away?