

Something Ain't Right

Dan Hill

You rolled your eyes and looked away
Feels like your mind's in hyperspace
I can't put my finger on it, you're turned on then you don't want him

Something ain't right, not quite
You keep changing your story, get it straight tonight
Something ain't right, so slight
Though you quit with an excuse, your words just get seduced
My suspicion
Don't mess with male intuition

I saw his car parked by your home
The moonlight gleaming off the chrome
Innocent till proven guilty
But all the signs keep flashing through me

Something ain't right, not quite
You keep changing your story, get it straight tonight
Something ain't right, so slight
Just when the chemistry's forming you turn on the light
Something ain't right, ah
Though you quit with an excuse, your words just get seduced
My suspicion
Don't mess with male intuition, no, no, no

You got me starring in a loser's role
But clear it out 'cause we both know

Something ain't right, not quite
You keep changing your story, get it straight tonight
Something ain't right, so slight
Just when the chemistry's forming you turn on the light
Something ain't right, something ain't right
Nothing's right

Something ain't right, get it straight tonight
Something ain't right, oh
