

Once in a While

Dan Seals

I think of this 'most every night
How hard it is to get it all right
I'm looking here, I'm looking there
I see a heart broken pieces everywhere

Won't you try, wouldn't you know?
You try so hard, still you let it all go
Too much trouble, too much pain
I think I'm gonna have to look again

What will I do if you'll walk away?
What will I do if you'll walk away?
Well, I haven't a chance
No, I haven't a chance

Once in a while I get this feeling
Now I look in my own little maze
Time after time I ask myself this
Will you walk away?
Once in a while I get this feeling

Seems all day and night time too
I don't belong, I'm just passing through
I guess you're right, I hate too much
Still and all, I miss your touch

Crazy motion, I'm careless in thought
I start to worry and time gets short
I think of this, my dear young one
Time to act has just begun

What will I do if you'll walk away?
What will I do if you'll walk away?
Well, I haven't a chance
No, I haven't a chance

Once in a while I get this feeling
Now I look in my own little maze
Time after time I ask myself this
Will you walk away?
Once in a while I get this feeling

Once in a while I get this feeling
Now I look in my own little maze
Time after time I ask myself this
Will you walk away?

Once in a while I get this feeling
Now I look in my own little maze
Time after time I ask myself this
Will you walk away?

Once in a while I get this feeling
Now I look in my own little maze
Time after time I ask myself this
Will you walk away?

Once in a while I get this feeling
Now I look in my own little maze
Time after time I ask myself this