

When

Dan Seals

There's a cold rain falling
On my window pane
Drop by drop it just won't stop
Spelling out your name
There's a wild wind howling
Chills me to the bone
All I can do is think of you and your heart of stone
Every sleepless night I pray
And hope it will be true
When I wake up in the morning
I won't remember you

You say someday I'll forget you
And fall in love again
Well if you're so smart won't you tell my heart...when

There's a full moon rising
Just like the one that shines
On the night you held me tight
And told me you were mine
Now there's an empty feeling
Where my heart used to be
The day I die I'll still ask why
You walked out on me
But I spend every waking hour trying to let go
Won't somebody show me how
Well I've just got to know

You say someday I'll forget you
And fall in love again
Well if you're so smart won't you tell my heart...when

You say someday I'll forget you
And fall in love again
Well if you're so smart won't you tell my heart...when

Tell me when