

Teardrop

Dan + Shay

There's a lonely girl
With an old shoebox
Photographs on a countertop
The handprint on the sidewalk square
Stuck right there to keep her from moving on

There's a teardrop falling downtown
Silhouette pressed on the first floor window
She screams I need you right now
Lays her head down on his cold hard pillow
She don't want to let go but she let's go
Of a hand-me-down shined up ring
There's a teardrop falling downtown

There's a white t-shirt
Underneath the bed
Still smells the same as the day he left
The heart carved in the tree out back
The two names on the welcome mat
It's things like that
That keep her from moving on, yeah

There's a teardrop falling downtown
Silhouette pressed on the first floor window
She screams I need you right now
Lays her head down on his cold hard pillow
She don't want to let go but she let's go
Of a hand-me-down shined up ring
There's a teardrop falling downtown
Downtown, ooh

There's a teardrop falling downtown
Silhouette pressed on the first floor window
She screams I need you right now
Lays her head down on his cold hard pillow
She don't want to let go but she let's go
Of a hand-me-down shined up ring
There's a teardrop falling downtown
Oooooh...

There's a teardrop falling downtown
Let it fall down
